Ray Fisher stalked out left California flat. For five innings neither club was able to get started, but in the sixth Fisher walked Leonard and Hooper, Hooper finally scoring on a smack by Duffy Lewis. In the seventh Gedeon singled and Baumann forced himpady stole and travelled on to third on Carrigan's peg, scoring on Pipp's safe drive. In the ninth, Gedeon doubled, Baumann singled and Pipp drove one on a line to right centre that might wielded three bases, but one was and the left of the latter of th

Yanks whizzed into the second game with Russell facing Gregg. In the second round the home talent scored twice on singles by Baumann and Boone, Pipp's sacrifice and two errors by Agrew. Then, with one out, High singled, Walters doubled, Russell walked and Gilhooley singled without a run result-ing, as High was tossed out stealing and the rest of it merely filled the Gilhooley singled and the fing. as High was tossed out sand the rest of it merely filled the bases.

The Red Sox took the lead in the fourth on a pass to Hobby, a triple by C. Walker and singles by Gardner and Agnew. They added two more in the seventh on a pair of passes and two wild pegs by Pitcher Russell. In the meanwhile Mays had supplanted Gregg, and from the third inning to the eighth the right-hander had the Yanks tied up in a number of true lovers' knots. Using an underhand delivery that closely resembled the Australian crawl stroke, fallower that started abruptly from the Red Sox entry liming the Red Sox in a number of true lovers' knots. Using an underhand delivery that closely resembled the Australian crawl stroke, a delivery that started abruptly from the ankle bone, the Red Sox entry limited Donovan's cast to two singles in five reels. The tornado arrived in the eighth with two out and the lower end of the batting order up, showing once of the batting order up, showing once more the abounding uncertainty of the game. Pipp singled and Boone dou-bled. High singled, scoring Pipp. Hughey then pilfered second, and Walters scored two on a lusty poke to centre, taking second on the throw home. Caldwell was inserted to pinch off a hit and Ray replied with the correct answer, a punch to left. Walters, racing in with the winning run, was shot down at the plate.

Shawkey at Helm. Shawkey then took the helm and once more made good as a rescuer of note. He stopped the Red Sox in 'heir large and unsightly tracks. In the tenth, with Jones pitching for Boston and two out, Walters singled and advanced on Barry's bad throw to first, scoring when Shawkey around on a late centre. en Barry's bad threw to first, scoring when Shawkey rapped one into centre for a hit. This double triumpl, achieved under such a handicap, has carried the Yanks well into the polits society of the game. With third place sewed up they are now but three games from the top, and, what is more to the point, they are fighting for every inen of ground and playing the brand of ball that counts. They have also begun to rise up and assault the ball. They netted ten hits off Leonard, and no less than fourteen off Gregg, Mays and than fourteen off Gregg, Mays and

In spite of the fact that Baker and Peck are out, the infield is putting up a great defensive stand, while fine outfield work is still a leading feature. Young Russell, the Richmond right-hander, had two brief flurries, but in the main gave evidence of possessing winning stuff. The Red Sox scored to give runs off him by using only has but his own wild throws in

But the New York Giants are different; vastly different. They Indians Blank Hustlers swept all opponents on to defeat in the Western trip, and now they have started a vigorous campaign against the Easterners. They met the Boston Braves here this afternoon, and won by a score of 12 to 1.

It was the fourteenth consecutive victory of the Giants, and it was yon as cleanly and as decisively as the score would indicate. It was however, for Jeff Tesreau injured a finger on his right hand in stopping a line drive off the bat of George Tyler in the second inning and was forced to retire.

A Steam Roller.

Ralph Stroud, who finished the game for New York, performed his duties creditably, and the machine of the Giants whirred on with never a jar in the rhythm. The Giants are now six NEW YORK (N. L.). The smashing attack of the Giants told. They battered the offerings of George Tyler to all corners of the lot, getting fourteen hits in all, making them count for twenty-one bases.
Fletcher, Burns and Doyle had doubles.
The last two men swatted triples also.
Merkle and Robertson had the best session at the bat, for each got three safeties in four times up.

The extra base hitting figured in the scoring of runs. In the first inning a triple by Burns resulted in the first tally of the game. Doyle's triple in the fifth sent over another while a brace of doubles by Burns and Doyle in the ninth had a stimulating effect on the run making business. Bill McKechnie's wallop produced a tally in the ninth.

Stroud in the third frame, and Boston stopped scoring.

It was a bad day for Benny Kauff. The little star of the Feds got on base four times, and three times he was trapped off first by Tyler's half balk motion and run down. Twice he was caught flat-footed, while another time he was run down by Konetchy and Maranville. Kauff failed to make any hits, but he did get around the full circuit once.

George Stallings is not a man to sit calmly and watch his pitchers battered to a pulp, yet he slid along the bench this afternoon, making many observations as he watched the choicest offerings of his crack southpaw clubbed all over the lot, but made no move to take him out of the box.

The Giants continued to perform produces of baseball in the field. Larry Doyle contributed the only error of the afternoon, but he had several chances to show his worth, and he made-the most of them. Artie Fletcher was all over the field knocking down hits, and if Kauff erred on the bases, the four catches he made in centre field were almost enough to make up for his Bloom made use of a snappy left hand jab and hook that carried much power. He stopped the rushes of his adversary short with these blows, and did not fail to make use of right hand crosses.

BASEBALL TO-DAY, SISP M. N. T. American vs. Beston. Pole Grounds. Adm. 50c.—Adv.

Badly hurt, the bear hunter stuck in the fine only run from Tesreau in the second inning. With one out Bash Compton singled to centre, and took third on Hank Gowdy's double to right. Tyler made a great bid for a single, but Tesreau knocked the ball down, deflecting it to Fletcher so that the last named shot it to Merkle in time to retire the runner. Compton sorred on the play and Gowdy went to third. It was a terrific smash by Tyler, and it almost splintered Tesreau's hand. Badly hurt, the bear hunter stuck in to-day by a score of 7 to 1.
